PROMISING PROSPECTS FOR HOCKEY

Twenty Freshmen Have Already Signed Up.

GAMMELL TO PLAY

McGill Replaced By V.A.A.A. In The City League.

The prospects for hockey seem very bright this year. Already thirty men have made known their intentions of turning out with the teams for the coming season. Of this number twenty of them are freshmen and should contain many promising players who should catch places on the different squads.

Graham Gammell who played for the Montreal High School is a strong defense man. He checks well and was the outstanding man in all games in which he played. The loss by graduation of Cully to the senior team leaves a defence position open, and this freshman has an excellent chance of filling the position if he improves this season as he has been doing in the past.

If the weather remains the same for the next few days there should be ice on the campus rink which will allow practices to be held in the very near future. The matter of ice is a great inconvenience to McGill as she cannot be sure of ice until the latter part of December unless unforeseen cold weather sets in as has been the case this year.

Varsity on the other hand has been holding practices for the past ten days on the artificial ice of Toronto arena. This gives them a start on McGill which necessitates a lot of hard work and scientific coaching to overcome.

However McGill has the backbone of last year's team to work with, around which she should be able to build a team superior to last year's Dominion champions.

McGill this year will not enter a team in the City League but will devote all her time to the intercollegiate schedule. The team, however, has received several invitations for matches with American teams in the Christmas holidays which will likely be accepted. This should make up for some of the experience which will be lost by not competing in the City League.

McGill will not entirely lose interest in the city games as the University Amateur Athletic Association is taking over the McGill franchise in the League. The majority of this team are McGill graduates who have starred on former college teams and should draw a large following among McGill students.

DONALDAS READY FOR WINTER SPORT

Hockey Discussed At General Meeting of R.V.C.A.A.

The Royal Victoria College will again be represented in the City Hockey league in which they had a team entered last season. A meeting of the R.V.C.A.A. was held yesterday at which the matter of the constitution of the league was read and it was unanimously approved by the students who were present. Interest in the coming hockey series is considerable among the women students at the college and they expect to place a team on the ice that will be the equal of the one which represented the college last year.

A meeting of the Executive of the hockey league is being held today at which several matters in connection with the plans for the season will be brought up for discussion. The representatives from the Royal Victoria College who will attend the meeting are Miss Snyder and Miss Roy, both of whom have been actively interested in the winter sport in the past.

The constitution of the R.V.C.A.A. is now being looked after by a committee appointed for that purpose and the general meeting of the association will have a draft of the new constitution placed before it for approval and discussion within the next few days. The President announced at the meeting yesterday that the committee was making good progress and would be ready to report shortly.

The interest in athletics at the college is growing in company with the general revival of interest in class and faculty sport and the winter season promises to be filled with lively contests. Several of the leagues are already under way and the others will be started as soon as circumstances permit them to do so.

INFORMAL DANCE ON FRIDAY NEXT

Tickets Will Be Placed On Sale Monday.

The informal dance which is being held at the Union next Friday evening promises to be as successful as the long string of similar affairs that have taken place for many years past. There has always been a much greater demand for tickets for the dances than could be supplied owing to the limited accommodation in the ballroom at the Union, but the fortunate possessors of the pastebards have always had a pleasant evening.

The informality of the dances appeals to many students who would not wish to go to one of the more formal affairs. Music and supper has always been equal to anything that is served at the bigger dances, the only change being that there is no necessity for formal dress and the dances do not last quite as long.

There are only the regular number of tickets available for next Friday's dance and they will be given to the first comers when the sale of tickets opens. Davis, the President of the Union announced yesterday that the tickets for the affair would be placed on sale at the secretary's office in the Union on Monday at noon. No reservations of tickets are made and anyone who is a student of the college may secure them if they apply before the supply is sold out.

INTER-FACULTY BOXING TO-DAY

Arts, Commerce and Law Are To Compete.

The second eliminations in the inter-class, inter-faculty boxing competitions will be held this afternoon in Molson's Hall at 2 o'clock when members of Arts, Commerce, Dentistry and Law will compete. Any competitor who does not turn up for his bout will default to his opponent. Law, Dentistry and Commerce are entered as one while Arts are strong enough to put up a complete team. In these competitions several promising boxers are entered and a well balanced programme should be the result. A large number of men have already shown a tendency to excel in this line of sport and the college championships should be contested with more than ordinary zest owing to the large number which will be eligible to compete in them.

The competitions for the inter-faculty champions should take some time to run off owing to the unusually large number of entries. The number of men entered in these bouts constitutes a record for inter-faculty boxing. They were not held last year and the McGill men were at an disadvantage in the way of sufficient bouts to be able to pick new men and give them the coaching that they deserved.

The boxers who won their bouts in the intercollegiate meet last year were all first year men. Brewer and Shackell will be able to compete in this year's bouts and should win them. If the freshmen this year show the same brand that these men did the boxing at least, should be an easy victory for McGill.

ROOTING BAD FOR VOICE.

One hundred of the most powerful rooters at Washburn College (Kansas) have not been permitted to cheer their football team onward this year. But there is a reason: The department of music hopes for the services of their voices in the glee club. The faculty promulgated the restraining rule when they were unable to put the proper finish on vocal cords trained by gridiron enthusiasm.

JUNIOR PROM. A COLOURFUL SOCIAL EVENT

Most Brilliant Success Of Years.

EXCELLENT MUSIC

Union Ballroom Presented A Scene Not To Be Forgotten.

The more formal social events of the college year always seem to centre around the Junior Prom. Coming as it does, but once in the life of each student it marks a red letter day in his career. The Junior Dance, held in the Union last night, was decidedly a success and even surpassed its predecessors both in its elaborateness and traditional dignity. The fixtures and decorations indicated much care and attention on the part of the committee and they may be complimented on the tasteful manner in which everything was arranged. Red and white bunting and the flags of the Allies prominently displayed on the walls and red balloons were strung from the ceiling in long festoons. The class crests displayed in various places excited considerable interest on the part of the students, many of whom were perhaps puzzled to know the full interpretation thereof. Many favourable comments were heard about the sitting-out rooms, and indeed they must have been designed with a nice eye for comfort and beauty.

More than three hundred were present at the Dance. The absence of Sir Arthur and Lady Currie was much regretted. The latter was unfortunately indisposed and was unable to be present. Mrs. F. D. Adams, Mrs. F. G. Finley, Miss Ethel Hurlbatt and Miss Zerda Slack received in a charming manner. Dean Adams and Dean Finley were both present and their genial sociability was much appreciated by all. To say that Lebaron's Orchestra played very well would be putting it mildly and indeed they excelled themselves even more so than on previous occasions.

The arrangements made for supper which was carried out in two sittings were a complete success and the refreshments were of a high order.

Among those present were:—The Misses:—V. Kitchell, E. Jencker, M. Monkle, R. Ayer, M. Ramsay, C. McKinnon, M. McMillan, N. Laidlaw, N. Evans, L. Mowatt, C. Paterson, A. E. Brookes, A. E. McGonnigal, A. B. Dennis, A. Lawson, G. Rowley, M. Coughlan, T. Paddon, G. L. Hutcheson, E. Snyder, D. M. Law, M. Brown, G. Beck with G. Brown, E. Palmer, L. Argue, G. Morris, Hart, D. Hay, M. Chapman, E. M. Campbell, E. Campbell, J. Foster.

PLANS FOR CLUB'S SMOKER COMPLETE

Ontario Club is Prepared For A Large Crowd.

Dr. Thompson and Professor Carruthers of the Faculty of Arts, and six members of the Glee Club will attend the smoker of the Ontario Club on Monday night at the Union. This smoker is the first event of the newly formed club which is increasing its membership rapidly, and a large number of Ontario men are expected to be on hand at 8.15 when the smokes and clay pipes will be passed round.

Sir Arthur Currie said he would try to drop in for a few minutes and say a few words to the club. This in itself should prove to be of great interest as Sir Arthur is noted for his informal talks at gatherings such as these.

The members of the Glee Club should do much to liven up matters with their selection of college and popular songs. The guests of the evening, Dr. Thompson and Professor Carruthers are well known around college and can be relied upon to do their share to make the evening a success.

Besides this, several features in the way of entertainment will be put on while the smokes and refreshments will be of the best.

All students from Ontario are invited to attend this social gathering whether they have already joined the organization or not. This should draw over a hundred men for which arrangements are being made.

The election of a vice-president will be made at this meeting, and any suggestions as to further events or amendments to the constitution will be brought up. With the exception of these few business matters the evening will be an entirely social one and a enjoyable time seems to be in store for Ontario men for this evening.

SUCCESS.

When a student sits down and bewails his hard luck, and bemoans the professors, his fellow students, and the world generally, it is a fair indication that there is something wrong with him. The fact that a young man is poor is no hindrance on this continent, on the contrary it has been said that poverty is the finest inheritance that youth can have. Premier Lloyd George began life in very humble circumstances; the new Prime Minister of Japan was a slave. The heads of many of the great railways and financial houses started as poor boys, who worked hard by day, and studied by night. A news agent became the electrical wizard; one of our western senators was a Barnardo boy. Countless others too numerous to mention, starting on the lowest rung on the ladder of success, achieved greatness.

Knowledge, force, ambition, imagination and integrity are the vital elements of success. Knowledge of the right kind, and in abundance is available at McGill, and it is our fault if we do not assimilate it. We can at least procure that factor of success right in the university. Force is a combination of industry, concentration and personality, and enables us to utilize our knowledge, and to carry out our ambition. Almost all the great leaders of the world were practical dreamers. Without imagination, America would yet be undiscovered, and we would still be living in the "Dark Ages". Integrity, the last named, but not the least, is imperative to true success.

Honesty and good habits are as essential as any other of the desired characteristics, and one cannot be termed really successful without these.

Every student possesses at least one of these, and many others may be lying dormant, waiting to be aroused. A real young man cannot be kept down in Canada or anywhere else; the demand for men of worth is ever increasing.

THE JUNIOR DANCE.

The Junior Dance last night proved to be the biggest social event of the season. The weeks spent by the dance committee in preparing for the event showed results, when a large crowd spent an evening that, to them, could not be equalled by any other function that was not held at the college.

Formal affairs of the type of the Junior Dance are all the more popular with the students because they come but seldom. A large number of them would soon make the students tired of the continuous round of activity, and the wisdom of the Students' Council in restricting the number is apparent to everyone who has been attending the university for any length of time.

BASKETBALLERS ATTENTION

All positions on the various Basketball teams are wide open to the whole University. There will be a turn out at the Highlanders Armoury, Bleury Street, this afternoon at 4.30 when it is hoped that all basketballers will be present. This is for all candidates for all teams, and a full turn out is earnestly requested.

AN INTERESTING FACT

That high school students achieve a higher average of scholarship upon entering college than do private school graduates is the deduction of Roswell P. Angier, dean of freshman at Yale. Figures from last year's freshman class show that the general average for freshmen who were graduates of high school was 74, while the average for men who came from private schools was only 70. Students from tutoring schools rated 63. "Only the more ambitious of the high school boys try to enter college by examination," says Dean Angier, "commenting upon these facts, 'while the circumstances that on the whole the parents of private school boys are wealthier enables them to keep on until they eventually qualify for entrance the high school students have less money to spend in college and, on the whole, are less active in extra-curricular activities; the high school boys have probably been more accustomed to study on their own, both intellectually and matters of conduct—the release from secondary school does not involve such readjustment.'"

STUDENTS GET PLENTY APPLE

Students at the University of Washington may be expected to live on apple this year. When an abundant crop was discovered, the university orchard was thrown open to students and they were permitted to lay in their winter's supply. A trifling sum was asked to cover the cost of production, although the number of apples a student might pick was unlimited.

PEPYS AT MCGILL

Up betimes and to colleges where I between two discourses a very pretty thing happened to me. For standing by the outside stairs in the snow for the cooling of my brows, there came down certain one of the women students, and he quite comply withall, which was rather a strange thing; but there being some little snow and hard ice upon the edges of the stairs she slipped and tumbled down to the ground, for which I was sorry for any harm that might have come to her, only that she looked quite pleasing as she came down through the oyle, for divers reasons and so rushed up most gallantly to proffer my assistance, but she would have none of it but smiled sweetly at me for my courtesy. 'Tis in sooth a mighty strange thing that all the women students should look upon me with such favour and I only a freshman; it must be my great comeliness and my lineage. How I envy the Juniors their high rank and privileges for they may go and dance together at their own cost while we are constrained to put out vast sums for the gorging of the worthless conhomore. What a sad affairs it is. Did utterly discard and put away my new-bought goshes this day in that they were reduced to a sort of ribbons of rubber. Find that little Anne Mary, daughter to my lodging-house keeper, becomes the more amiable and complaisant to me each day in her looking after my comforts. What a pleasing child she is.

THAT MEMORY BOOK.

It may seem foolish to keep old theatre stubs, snap-shots, dance programs, place-cards, pledge ribbons, and tags, but the student who goes through college without keeping a memory book will regret it a thousand times in later years. The collection between the covers of such a book may be worth nothing intrinsically, but the associations that cling to every item are priceless.

The keeping of a scrap book is not merely child's play: it is a practice that has a sound psychological basis. There is a great pleasure in collecting clippings and pictures and knickknacks for a memory book, and there is a far greater pleasure in turning the pages of that book long after college days have passed.

The student should try to make his memory book expressive of the things college has meant to him—not only a record of play, but a record of work as well. What is commonplace now will seem far from commonplace twenty years from now.

College days are probably the happiest, busiest, most glorious days of our lives: the friends we ever will probably the best friends we ever will have; memories of Illinois will probably be cherished more dearly than all other memories. An "I" book is a storehouse for those memories; it is a lasting record of our college days.

MEDS. WON FAST GAME YESTERDAY

Med. '27 Won From Comm. '23.

SCORE 13-8.

Places Meds. in Running For Final Eliminations.

A fast and exciting game of Basketball was staged last night in the Moisson Hall between Med. '27 and Commerce '23. This is the last game of the first elimination series and places Med. '27 in the list of the nine teams that are still in the running. During the first half the Meds had it all to themselves and found no difficulty in blocking their opponents. Quackenbush and Rapkine starred for the Meds, the former by his dazzling quickness and speedy footwork, while the latter seemed to have an uncanny sureness of aim in shooting the ball into the Commerce net. Richardson also played an excellent game.

In the first minute of play the Meds were allowed two free throws. Rapkine netting a point each time. Connor and Richardson each made a point for their respective teams. The first goal was scored by Quackenbush on a pass from Rapkine. Silver and Richardson each made use of free throws to score an additional point. At half-time the score stood 6-2 in favour of the Meds. Commerce pushed hard all through the first period but their shooting was inaccurate.

In the second half Commerce settled down and for a while made things look serious for the Meds. Dunn, for Medicine, opened the period by scoring a goal. Commerce was awarded a free throw and gained another point. Chamberlain then netted two goals for Commerce in quick succession. This cut the Meds' lead down to one point. Quackenbush and Rapkine, who had been on the bench, were put into the game. Each team gained a point on free throws. During the last few minutes of play the Meds clinched the game by netting two more goals. The whistle blew with the score 13-8 in favour of Med. '27.

The line-up was as follows:

| Med. '27          |                | Commerce '23         |                |

Following is the list of teams that are still to take part in the eliminations: Arts '25; Sci. '23; Law '24; Med. '24; Arts '23; Dent. '24; Med. '25; Sci. '24; Med. '27.

GOOD BASKETBALL SEASON EXPECTED

Junior and Intermediate Practices Held Last Night.

Prospects look exceedingly bright for basketball this year. Practice has started earlier than last year. All the old men are turning out and some good fresh men material is expected to show itself. Men of senior years are turning out in greater numbers than formerly.

Last night a number of Junior and intermediate candidates indulged in a good work out. Judging from the play at this practice there will be keen competition for both defence and forward positions on the different teams. "The Daily" learns unofficially that the new coach Geo. Fox does not intend picking men for any team till he has seen all candidates in action. General practices for all candidates will be held in which everyone will have a chance to show his ability. From the men who attend these practices and show the right calibre will be chosen the Senior Team, Intermediate and Junior Teams. The first game in the City League is on Dec. 14 and everything points to McGill being represented by a team which it will take a lot to beat.

THE NOREASTER.

They count that day as lost unswayed by sun.
Dreading the saline breath of driving gales;
They scorn to look afar where breakers run.
Or mark the seaward flight of scudding sails.
They crave a sunlit sea for their sojourn.
With blue skies stretching where the eye may strain.
Then through the night they hear the storm winds earn.
And morning brings a rain-lashed window pane.
They hate the wide gray wastes that stretch away
Mottled with drifting foam where combers break;
They sense no beauty in the rain-mixed spray.
Or raging boaches that the gales now rake.
But to the ones with sea blood in their veins.
Adventure calls across the ocean rains.

HAY CHOSEN CAPTAIN OF TRACK TEAM

Elections For Captain Of Team Held Yesterday.

UNANIMOUSLY ELECTED

Track Team Has Created Envious Reputation On Cinder Path.

Next year's Captain of the McGill Track Team will be Cecil Hay, Med. '23. Hay was unanimously chosen at a short meeting held yesterday afternoon at Notman's shortly after the Team picture had been taken. This was the only matter of business left to the Club for consideration before winding up the affairs of the season.

The choice for next year's Captain is a well-merited one. Hay has been a consistent winner on the team for the last three years, and his election to the leadership of the Team is a mark of the Club's appreciation of his untiring efforts and good service. His best work has been done in short distance running and he has always succeeded in coming well up in front when the runners crossed the final goal.

It will be remembered that at the Track Meet held this Fall in Kingston, Johnson and Hay, carrying McGill colours succeeded in topping first and second places respectively in the 100, 200 and 440 yds dash runs, outdistancing both 'Varsity and Queens' by a good margin of 17 points over their nearest rival—Varsity. Although no record were broken, the Team did consistent work and succeeded in getting first place in eight of the thirteen events. With these victories the team duplicated the successful efforts of the Track Team of '14, '19 and '20. Its past record shows that McGill has succeeded in turning out an almost invincible Track Team. The Red and White carried off the title by a good margin and at the meet held last October McGill triumphed over Varsity by a score of 71-54.

The student body has been and will continue to be behind the energetic efforts of the Track Team, and judging from the success that has been achieved so far it seems evident that this encouragement will continue. To produce a championship Team is a matter of pride to have a Team which has succeeded in coping the Championship within the week, no other effect than the creation of interest in and co-operation with our champion representatives on the cinder path.

This year's Championship Team will remain practically intact for next year except for the loss of McLelland who graduates this season. If the work of the team in the past may be taken as a criterion of the work to be expected next season, then it is not improbable and optimistic to believe that the Red and White will continue to carry off the honours and retain its superiority on the Track and field.

This fall several promising men went out to the workouts. Although all did not make the team, much good and promising material was unearthed, and with added encouragement to continue their attempts there should be a plethora of candidates for the Team which will make this year's traditional rival for the Intercollegiate Championship to be held here next fall at the Moisson Memorial Stadium.

PUZZLING THE HISTORIAN.

Records of debate in Congress are often searched by lawyers and historians to discover what they are pleased to call the "intent" of Congress in enacting a bill that afterward is brought into court. Historians try to run down the evidence respecting past events. They accept the contemporaneous testimony of senators as to the facts concerning social changes and the like. But one wonders what they would make of a passage in a Senate debate last week.

The subject under discussion was the provision of the tax law requiring Americans to show their income tax receipts before being allowed to go abroad. It was denounced by some as a vexatious regulation, often not enforced. For example, the assertion was made that it was not applied in the case of the "thousands" of our citizens who go to Canada for a vacation. But Senator Wadsworth made the point that they did not go "for the purpose of evading taxes." Then ensued the following Orphic colloquy:

Mr. Watson of Indiana.—No; of course not; in fact, during the Civil War they had other reasons.

Mr. Wadsworth.—There have been more urgent reasons.

Mr. Watson of Indiana.—I thought they went to Cuba.

Fancy an investigator fifty years from now digging that up and trying to understand it. He might be writing a monumental work on the history of travel, showing how the moderns passed from one country to another, and with what motives. This little interchange might seem to be a precious bit of documentation for him, but what is its real explanation? The solemn senators did not say. They may have winked or smiled at each other, but the stenographers could not get that down. So as far as the record goes, it must remain a mystery why Americans, Consul Volstead, liked to make trips to Canada or Cuba.

R.V.C. PARTIALS HOLD A MEETING

Plans Made For Year's Social Work

The first meeting of the Partial Society of the R.V.C. was held yesterday in the Common Room. In the absence of other officers, the chair was taken by Miss M. Russell, 2nd vice-president. Miss J. Marshall acted as Secretary pro-tem. Miss A. Lamb was chosen as Basket Ball manager for the Society. As there were very few present it was decided to postpone the election of officers until the next meeting.

The chairman outlined the work done by the Society last year. It was suggested that the Society should as in the past years, take charge of a Thê Dansant for the benefit of the University Settlement. The care of some poor families at Christmas and the Decoration of the Settlement at Christmas was also proposed.

The Representatives of the various years were asked to round up the Partials in their respective years.

GREAT TRACK RECORD BY SOUTH AFRICAN LAD

South Africa has developed another schoolboy athlete in L. B. B. Betts whose performance early last month at the Jeppe High School sports, and School championships suggest that he may better the records of Reggie E. Walker and B. G. D. Rudd, both of whom are credited with exceptional performances as schoolboys. Betts, a lithe and clean limbed youth of 17 won the 100, 440 and 880 yards at Jeppe School. In the quarter he won his preliminary in 50 7-8 seconds, while in the final on the following day he covered the distance in 50 seconds, and won the 100 yards in 10 seconds. The half-mile was the next event and without retiring to the pavilion he went on to his mark and won from L. Phillips of Krugersdorp by 25 yards, who put up a record last year of 2 minutes 6 seconds.

PLEASE USE CORRECT ENGLISH.

Come on you birds and join us in the great move to can the rotten lingo of the gutter snipe. When a guy what goes to college ain't usin' correct grammar he ought to walk himself thither and peddle fish.

What's the use of harking to the line of these gents we call professors if it don't soak in to the cranium. Take in the words of the whiskered gent when he hoots his line on the lingo supreme. "Gang, you all heard, tell of the 'Queen's English,' you know what it certifies; cut out the rough stuff and arrange your line as Webster would speak to us so men and ladies can get you without reverting to our knowledge of the beer house or Mike's pool hall. I appeal to you, as citizens of the grand and glorious old U. S., and as fellow Illini, for the love of Mike, douse it."

JOURNALISM NEW COLLEGE SUBJECT.

Of the 625 principal colleges and universities in the United States and Canada 171 now offer courses in journalism and employ 276 teachers of journalism, according to a directory of teachers of journalism in the United States and Canada recently compiled by the Secretary of the American Association of Teachers of Journalism. The association in 1917, listed 84 institutions giving journalistic work and 172 teachers.

Many of these institutions do not maintain a department of journalism, but include some newspaper writing in the English department. As the increase since 1917 is chiefly among institutions of this kind, the directory declares that this indicates a growing realization of the usefulness of instruction in journalism, even for persons not intending to enter the profession.

The largest departments or schools of journalism are maintained at the Pulitzer School of Columbia University, University of Indiana, Kansas State Agricultural College and the University of Kansas, Marquette University, University of Missouri, New York University, the Medill School at Northwestern University, University of Oklahoma, University of Oregon, Syracuse University, University of Washington and the University of Wisconsin.

THE COLLEGIATE CRIMINAL.

About one in forty of the inmates of state penitentiaries are graduates of colleges or universities, according to recent surveys. Since about one person in twenty-five Americans has had college training, the percentage of prisoners among college graduates is less than that of other classes; but authorities say that no more than one college man should be found in a hundred convicts.

It is not lack of intelligence that is to be blamed in the case of the collegiate criminal. His mentality is higher than that of the average citizen, say authorities; and even higher than that of the average college student. Nor is it want of experience to be blamed, for the average age of the educated criminal is six years greater than that of the ordinary criminal.

The reason seems to be a psychological one. The great majority of educated men sent to state prisons are con-

CLOSE GAME OF INDOOR BASEBALL

Arts '25 Defeated Science Sophs.

GOOD PLAYING

Interesting Game Played Yesterday In Inter-Class Series

Science '24 and Arts '25 battled for five innings in the High School gym. last evening, and played a good game of ball, Arts '25 finally emerging with the high end of the score.

Both teams made two runs each in the initial frame playing perfect ball; in the third inning. Arts drew away to a small lead. Both teams scored six runs in fourth on good hits, very few errors being made. The final inning was close and exciting. Sci. '24 began to cut down the lead against them and were finally forced out of the running on a close decision. The final score being 18-13.

For the winners MacPhail pitched excellent ball and was ably supported by his catcher Bronson. While Naim, Chait and Ellison produced the foreworks at the bat. The whole team played well in the field, Miller making a brilliant double play in the second inning.

For the losers Pollock twirled well and with Shatford at the receiving end made up a good battery.

The heavy hitters on the Science team proved to be Foye, Tunton and Burroughs, the latter batting with the bases full hit a hard down that looked good for a homerun, but unfortunately the umpire stopped it with his face thereby allowing only one run.

The outfield on the Science team played brilliant ball, making catches of "most sure hits."

The teams lined up as follows:

| Sci. '24         |  | Arts '25      |  |
|------------------|--|---------------|--|
| Shatford, R. A.  |  | Bronson, H.   |  |
| Pollock, T. D.   |  | McPhail, H.   |  |
| Foye, A. S.      |  | Naim, G.      |  |
| Tunton, L. C.    |  | Ellison, A.   |  |
| Burroughs, R. W. |  | Miller, D.    |  |
| Buchanan, W.     |  | Chait, S.     |  |
| Olive, G.        |  | Walker, W. W. |  |
| Manson, F. S.    |  | Bruger, M.    |  |
| Johnson, H. C.   |  | Baumon, M.    |  |
| McCall, A.       |  | Doubilet, H.  |  |
| Slackman, V.     |  | Ennes, F.     |  |
| Kirschburg, A.   |  | Logan, R. S.  |  |

Score by innings:
1 2 3 4 5 Total
Arts '25 2 2 6 6 2 —18
Sci. '24 2 0 0 6 5 —13

As this was the first game for Sci. '24 great credit is due to their manager R. S. Logan and to the team as a whole for the great game they put up on such short notice and with such little practice. With a little more practice they should come pretty close to the leaders before the League championship is finally decided.

victed for commercial crimes such as forgery or embezzlement, crimes which show that the perpetrator was dissatisfied with his condition in life and attempted to better it by using dishonest methods. Usually the men were salesmen or minor clerks, in positions which they considered were beneath their ability or not profitable enough to maintain themselves in the way they believed they were entitled to. They found themselves in the rut with no immediate prospect of getting out of it by fair means, and they took the only other alternative.

It is a widely recognized fact that the ordinary college man has a rather selfish view of education. He is training himself not so much for life as for making a living, not so much for its value as for making himself valuable. He believes the only knowledge worth while is that which he can apply to the problem of making money and achieving material prosperity. And if his training, which he gets out of college life fails him he is tempted to turn to fraudulent methods to gain his ends.

The ethics of the day is too utilitarian and too lacking in idealism. The college man should realize that he owes a duty to the state, to society and that he must fulfill this duty by public service. Society invests in every college man a certain amount of its surplus wealth. In the case of the state university a direct tax is laid on the commonwealth to provide for his training. The person benefited must pay dividends or he has no right to the benefits of such training.

TORONTO BOXERS NOT PLENTIFUL

'Varsity Boxing Prospects Not Bright.

The following clipping from the Toronto "Varsity" should be of interest to followers of boxing at McGill. While 'Varsity seems to have trouble in getting men to turn out, McGill has a record class and the largest inter faculty inter-class competitions in the history of boxing at the college.

"In boxing, however, the prospects are not so bright. Of last year's team Black and Relyea are the only ones who have turned out regularly. Stirret, who last year was the heavyweight contender failed his year and will not be able to represent Varsity in the intercollegiate Coach Dinwoodie has many beginners out but very few experienced men have put in an appearance. Both Queen's and McGill have been putting forward great efforts to defeat Varsity at this sport. Since the meet is to be held here this year it behooves us to show some "pep." Those boxers who have not turned out as yet should be sure to get out soon. Anybody with any ability must turn out soon if they are to get in shape for the various tournaments. The junior inter faculty tournament takes place early in December. Sergt-Major Blake had developed some very promising talent. Mr. Dinwoodie is endeavouring to carry on Turn out and help.

"Da noive of dat guy," complained Timmy, the demon office boy, "offerin' me six dollars a week. Wha's he think I am? A college graduate?"

Will Be Under Auspices of Northern Electric Engineering Society.

A lecture on "The Piezo Electric Effect" will be given on Wednesday, November 30th, at 8.15 p.m. in the Macdonald Physics Building Lecture Theatre by Mr. A. McLean Nicolson, who is Research Engineer of the Western Electric Company of New York. It will be accompanied by "A Demonstration of how crystals are made to talk". The lecture is given under the auspices of the Northern Electric Engineering Society.

A few tickets have been given the Director of the Physics Building, who has kindly consented to distribute them to Third and Fourth year students of the Faculty of Applied Science, and to Honour Students (Mathematics and Physics) of the Faculty of Arts. These tickets may be Library of the Physics Building by Library of the Physics Building by application. It is much regretted that it is impossible to extend invitations to the students of other faculties.

The membership of the Northern Electric Engineering Society, however, is now so large that it is expected that the auditorium will be quite filled.

LARGE LOCOMOTIVE USED ON BLUE RIDGE.

Visualize, if you can, a freight train over a mile in length, the longest train that was ever hauled, carrying a load of coal approximating thirty-one million pounds, pulled over the Blue Ridge and Alleghany mountains by the biggest locomotive in the world, and you have a mental picture of the feat in heavy hauling that was accomplished recently on the Virginian Railway, between Princeton, W. Va., and Roanoke, Va., in the presence of eighty-five prominent representatives of the leading railroads in this country, which is described as inaugurating a new era in modern railroad development. These demonstrations represented tests and trials covering a range of a wide and exhaustive nature. It was shown that the operation of the locomotive, consuming on an average of six tons of coal per hour, was an easy matter with the duplex stoker, a mechanical device which takes the place of firemen.

The following are details connected with the largest demonstration train: The locomotive and tender weighed 449 tons and measured approximately 125 feet in length. The train was composed of 100 cars, each of which weighed 40 tons and measured 51½ feet. The load carried by each car represented 120 tons of coal, making the total weight pulled by the engine approximately 16,000 tons or 32,000,000 pounds.

WHAT WOMEN READ.

What are known as women's pages in the daily newspapers made a poor showing in the recent reading census at Radcliffe College. Only four of the six hundred students voted their favorite section. Even though what the college undergraduate reads may not be taken as indicative of what appeals to women in general, the result of the census is enlightening as showing the trend of the times.

Items about how to be beautiful, how to manage a husband or how to get one are no longer the only things that interest women, and they are beginning to feel that the newspaper is no place for them, any more than discussions of masculine charms or how to manage a wife.

Except for the sporting news, perhaps, the college woman likes about the same newspaper food as her brother. Just as soon as women go in for sports to the same extent as do men and occupy the same space in newspaper columns with their doings, sporting news will only get a good many votes, just as they do in a college man poll. That time is of the very essence is just as true in one college as another, and of what use are headlines if not to read as you run?

All in all, the college woman is a serious minded person—too serious, perhaps—but the pages supposed to appeal to the lighter side of the feminine mind do not measure up to her by any means. They do not furnish the let-down from serious pursuits that sporting pages offer the masculine reader.

SUNDAY SING.

There is not much fear of anyone forgetting the Sunday "Sing" but here is a little reminder. The time—8.45 on Sunday. The place—Strathcona Hall. All out!

MOCK PARLIAMENT.

The second meeting of the Mock Parliament will be held on Wednesday evening at the Union.

GREAT CROOK PLAY TO BE SEEN AT THE ORPHEUM NEXT WEEK.

A new crook play will find its way to the Orpheum Theatre next week. A crook play, with a necklace of diamonds passing from hand to hand and a fierce fight against the pursuing police as the conflict of its story. It is called "Kick In" and is the first ambitious work of an actor named Willard Mack. "Kick In" is a play that every theatre goer will like for it is filled with suspense, its achievement is really stirring and its humor is the robust humor that is compounded of extravagant slang and shrewd observation.

For something more than two years now, it has been the custom to compare all such offerings as this with the play by Bayard Veillier "Within the Law" which made such a great hit in New York for over two years, and which took the entire country by storm, but in "Kick In" Mr. Willard has put in more suspense and more thrills than in "Within the Law", making it a better melodrama, as during the entire action of the play there are scenes which draw the spectator to the very edge of their seats, so big are the thrills.

The Orpheum Players will, next week, give a wonderful presentation of this famous play, as the management has spared no expense in making all the final preparations for the scenic production which the author has called. Every member of the company will be seen at their best in the different characters in which they have been cast for.

PRINCESS

A programme of unusual interest is promised to the patrons of the Princess Theatre next week, when Trixie Friganza, "The Roly Poly Comedienne" who comes as headliner after three years absence from vaudeville with the best act of her career, which she calls, "My Little Bag O' Tri" written specially for her by Neville Flesoon and Albert Von Tilzer. Wholesome merry making is Miss Friganza's forte and she is happiest when making her audience laugh and this she does as her material is "all for fun", and she puts it over in her own delightful original way. She enjoys a unique reputation as a comedienne in the full meaning of the term, sparkling brilliant, her chief charms being personality and originality and whose talents have won for her a widespread recognition.

The Bob Fender Troupe present a versatile and astounding novelty. The company of ten are experts on stunts and are great comedy pantomimists.

"Summertime" is a one-act playlet from the pen of Edwin Burke, which echoes all the fun and frivolity of youth, which is said to be one of the funniest comedies on the vaudeville stage today. Lewis Nilsen plays the leading role and is assisted by a capable company of four talented artists.

The Weaver Brothers call themselves, "The Arkansaw Travellers" which is synonymous with saying that they portray the rural type. They offer a novel musical act which is full of fun as well as melody.

Bert Walton is a comedian with methods of his own who offers a novelty comedy conception, which he calls "Who'll Be the next to Cry Over You".

Pearson, Newport and Pearson offer "A Study in Pep" a clever assortment of dances and piano accompaniment. The two men are clever acrobatic dancers, whose programme is varied and the girl presides at the piano in a way that marks her as a concert pianist.

John and Nellie Olms, "The Watch Wizards" accomplish a number of feats that don't come under the head of illusions, but whose work is skilful and mystifying.

The Andrieff Trio offer a programme of a wide variety and carefully assembled dances, which is a terpsichorean treat and executed in a spectacular manner.

AT LOEW'S

"Passion Fruit," Starring Doraldina, Powerful Romance of the Tropics.

No more appropriate story could possibly have been found for such a turbulent personality as Doraldina than "Passion Fruit," the swift moving melodrama of a white hot love and a bitter hate in the sun-blistered tropics, which will be the photoplay feature at Loew's all next week. The story is by Carey Wilson and brings out in a most vivid and startling manner, the passionate appeal and lawless love of a ruthless and unprotected white girl. How the helpless, wretched wreck—a bit of the human flotsam and jetsam found on every tropical isle comes to her rescue only to be cruelly brushed aside until his dormant manhood finally asserts itself is one of the strong points of the unusual story which abounds in extraordinary situations and striking climaxes.

The Loew-Metro organization has given "Passion Fruit" everything that goes to make a master picture, — famous and talented star Doraldina, — perfect direction John Ince, — ideal cast, Stuart Holmes, Florence Turner, Edward Earle, Sidney Bracey, and a score of other notable players, along with scenic environment and atmosphere heretofore unsurpassed.

So, with Doraldina in person at every performance, her latest feature "Passion Fruit," our usual vaude-vill attractions and the carefully selected short film subjects to round out Loew's anniversary program the week beginning Monday, November 28th, looks like seven red letter days for Montreal theatregoers.

THE S.C.A. OF THE R.V.C. HELD MEETING

The S. C. A. of R. V. C. met in the common room, R. V. C., at 1 o'clock Thursday for further consideration of the constitution. It has now been finally and completely approved. After the minutes had been read and approved, those clauses which were left over for discussion from the previous meeting were read, and after some discussion, were amended, and adopted.

He: May I have this dance?
She: Yes, if you can find some one to dance with.

PROMISING PROSPECTS FOR HOCKEY.

With the prospects of ice next week a start will be made and new men will be given a chance to show what they are worth and the old players a chance to limber up. If this start can be made a team should be ready by Christmas to meet any first class aggregations.

Why is it that there are over 600 branch factories of United States companies in operation in Canada to-day employing 90,000 people living in Canada, and representing invested capital of about $400,000,000.00?

THE TARIFF and The Tariff alone brought these United States manufacturers to Canada.

The Tariff stands as a partial barrier against the importation of products manufactured in other countries. It is a Customs Tax placed by the Government on certain foreign-made goods and it is collected when these goods enter Canada.

Because of The Tariff, these United States manufacturers found that they could not sell their particular products as extensively and profitably in Canada as they desired; they realized that to get our trade they had to come over here and be one with us. Consequently, they have established factories in this country, they are manufacturing their products here and are employing Canadian workmen. Both CRERAR and KING are pledged to the destruction of our Tariff—and with what result?

The hundreds of plants established in this country by United States manufacturers would be shut down. They would not need to be maintained, for the goods can be manufactured cheaper in the United States by reason of larger production due to their huge home market. Ninety thousand Canadian working men would lose their employment. These men are receiving over one hundred millions of dollars a year in wages; they represent 270,000 men, women and children all dependent upon these industries for a livelihood, and all consuming the produce of Canadian farms.

What is more, the great majority of our factories which are all-Canadian and which represent Canadian capital would also be forced to close. They could not successfully compete with United States products—cheaper because produced in larger quantities—or with goods from Europe or Japan, where wages and the standard of living are very much lower than in Canada.

THE TARIFF brings foreign capital into the country; it provides employment, it protects the home market of manufacturer and farmer alike, and it ensures the maximum development of Canada's great natural resources, our raw materials being made into finished goods at home instead of being sent to other countries.

THE TARIFF is the one big issue before Canada today—and it affects the future of every man, woman and child in the country.
